Public cordially invited to each of these services.

JAS. P. DEPASS, P. O.

Baptist Notes.

Last Sunday's services were all well attended, especially the night service. After the morning sermon the church met in business conference and accepted the pastor's resignation. Prof. Pace's resignation as musical director was also read and accepted.

The six candidates heretofore approved for baptism were immersed in Peace river Sunday afternoon. Laddie Underhill was received for baptism at the night service.

The following brethren are appointed a committee on reception entertainment and arrangement for the association: J. L. Jones, E. Whidden, E. R. Watson, C. C. Chollar and C. M. Johnson.

This pastor spent last Thursday night and Friday night at Owens, where he preached to very attentive and appreciative audiences.

Pastor Peelman is reported to have resigned the care of the Fort Myers church.

Dr. Hully, the talented president of Stetson University, promises to attend the approaching session of Peace River Association.

The pastor desires a report from the secretary of the Woman's Missionary Union and the B. Y. P. U. as soon as possible, so that he may get their statistics into our letter to the association.

Do not forget the early morning prayer promise.

Sunday morning, by request, the pastor's theme will be the "Parable of the Talents." At night he will discuss the Lord's supper in the light of a certain expression appearing last week in one of our local papers by the writer of the Presbyterian Notes. Our Presbyterian friends are specially invited to attend the night service. This pastor received his education at the South Western Presbyterian University, and has a very high regard for that denomination. He promises to speak in complimentary terms, because it is in his heart to do so.

Mrs. J. D. Williams, of the Presbyterian choir, has kindly consented to sing for us Sunday night "Jesus, Lover of my Soul." Other special numbers will make the service of more than ordinary interest.

The mid-week prayer meetings continue to be well attended. Over forty were present last Wednesday night, and several interesting talks were made. Sometimes now the prayer meeting runs over fifty, and rarely ever drops below thirty-five.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at Ed Greene's drug store.

This Stream Runs Up Hill.

One of the few instances of a stream running up hill can be found in White county, Ga. Near the top of a mountain is a spring, evidently a siphon, and the water rushes from it with sufficient force to carry it up the side of a very steep hill for nearly half a mile. Reaching the crest, the water flows on to the east, and eventually finds its way to the Atlantic ocean. Of course it is of the same nature as a geyser, but the spectacle of a stream of water flowing up a steep incline can probably be found nowhere else in the country and appears even more remarkable than the geysers of the Yellowstone.

COSTLY COAL.

Some For Which the United States Paid $50 a Ton.

"The civil war led to the establishment of a lot of little private coaling stations all over the world by thrifty persons who hoped that Uncle Sam's ships might come that way about the time that they needed coal real bad," said an old naval official. "The old Vanderbilt in 1862 had an experience of that sort. She was looking for the Alabama like a good many more of the Federal ships, and she came to St. Helena just about the time that she was out of coal. The officers were delighted to see a red headed Scotchman sitting on a coal pile on the dock, and they at once opened up negotiations with him. He demanded $30 a ton gold, and as the rate of exchange was then $2.85 this made the price $85 a ton of Uncle Sam's money."

"The officers protested and refused to take the coal. They put to sea, hoping to reach another port before their stock gave out, but after a run of a few hours the weather began to get nasty, and there was nothing for it but to put back and buy 1,000 tons of the Scotchman's coal."

"He said that he liked the United States and sympathized with the north in the war, but he had been sitting on that coal pile for a long time waiting for an American ship to come along, and sympathy didn't buy things."—New York Times.

AN ENGLISH HERO

Remarkable British Tribute to the Ability of Nelson.

The time has come when we can specially do honor to Nelson's memory without wounding the feelings of other nations. The first thing to be noted concerning him is that he is the only man who has ever lived who by universal consent is without a peer. In every walk of life except that which Nelson chose as his own you will find several competitors for the first place, each one of whom will have many supporters. Alexander of Macedon, Hannibal, Caesar, Marlborough, Frederick the Great and Napoleon have been generally put forward for the palm of generalship. To those who would acclaim Richelieu as the first of statesmen others would oppose Chatham or William Pitt or Cavour or Bismarck or Marquis Ito. Who was the first of sculptors? Who the first of painters? Who the first of poets? In every case there is a great difference of opinion. Ask, however, who was the first of admirals, and the unanimous reply will still be, "Nelson," tried as he was by many years of high command in war. It is not only among his fellow countrymen that his pre-eminence is acknowledged. Foreigners admit it as readily as we proclaim it ourselves.—Admiral Sir Cybrian Bridge in Cornhill Magazine.
